About Nina

Most of Nina's work reflects the details that surround her in her ordinary life. Her connection to the environments around her and her love for nature is a lot of her inspiration. Nina's body of work is reflected in her love for watercolor and her new found love for oils and digital creating. Outside of Nina's realistic work, she enjoys bringing a mix of her imagination through whimsical art where she can lose the realistic aspects and boundaries - a place where she can let her imagination just go and the outcome is unknown. Mainly, she just loves to create and bring joy through her art.
